Aloysius Club Causes an Upset by Getting Tie Score in Post-Season Series

CORNELL'S CLOSE CALL SURPRISES

Tied With Aloysius in Last Inning of Second Post-Season Game.

CLEVER FIELDING AND BASERUNNING

Manhattan Defeats Andrews by Six to Five in Section AA.

Fans who so freely predicted a walkaway for the Cornell team in section A of the post-season series are today ready to stop predicting results, for the Tigers came within an ace of being defeated by Aloysius yesterday in the second game of the series, the score being tied in the last inning.

More excellent fielding and clever baserunning featured the day, and two close contests were on the boards, Aloysius and Cornell playing a tle game, 6 to 6. and Manhattan overcoming a lead and defeating Andrews, 6 to 5.
Bob Kummer, the lanky twirler of Aloysius, had the sluggers of Manager Cornell's aggregation at his mercy for five sessions, but weakened toward the last, Cornell batting in five runs in the

Gallagher Knocked Out.

Bernie Gallagher was Cornell's selection for the fray yesterday, but after Aloysius had driven in four runs it three innings, Cornell decided that it was not Bernie's day, big Sam Edmon ston taking his place on the mound Edmonsten got away poorly, but after his first inning had things his own way Excellent fielding and heady patching by Kummer kept the Cornell score down for five lonings, but in the sixth fusillade of hits netted Cornell four In the seventh Moran's double following a base on balls to Mullen and a single to Handiboe, tied the score The double umpire system was used in and Umpire Betts called the game. Section A yesterday, and will be in vogue hereafter when Venable or Betts are carded to work. This worked in excellent shape except in the third inning, when a quick throw by Smith to Mullen at third caught Greer off the base. Betts, who was behind the plate, ruled the runner out, while Venable, umpiring bases, called him safe. Betts held full sway, however, and the man

Manhattan Beats Andrews.

At first and W streets, Manhattan came up from behind and nosed out Andrews in a seven-inning game, 6-5 Oakley started in the box for Manhat tan, but got his bumps, and was lifted in the second. Andrews secred four runs in the first two innings, and seemed to have the contest well in hand, but the Independence leaders kept pegging away, and in the fifth drove Chism off the slab, and counted enough runs to Today Sherwood will play Cornell. With Porter on the slab, Manager Love thinks his Sunday School champs can give Cornell a game fight. The Tigers are going none too well, and while they are looked upon by the majority as is over. Manager Cornell never picks list battery until just before the game, but the probability is that either Wooden or Gallagher will start, with Richmond as reserve.

Manhattan will again be seen in action, this time with Petworth at Thir.

With one out, and a man on second

Manhattan will again be seen in action, this time with Petworth, at Thirteenth and D streets northeast. Birch probably will again be in the box for Petworth, while Burley will twirl for the Manhattan boys.

With one out, and a man on second and third, Miller tried to recal flower on S. Dampier's fumble, but the fast Petworth, while Burley will twirl for the Manhattan boys.

With one out, and a man on second and third, Miller tried to recal flower on S. Dampier's fumble, but the fast this tasseman recovered himself, and effected a double play. This was the beginning of the end for Andrews.

SECTION A

Aloysius played an excellent game in the field, going through the contest without a miscue. Some of the stops made by the clubmen were fine bits of fielding, noticeably the play of Widmayer on Moran, when he got the Cornell batsman's fast grounder back of second and threw the runner out without recovering his balance. Marsden also made two good catches in right field, both coming with men on and Cornell's fielding was not up to the standard, both Mullen and King falling down twice. Mullen's two errors were on poor throws to McDonald, at first, while King threw poorly once and let one go through him.

Charlie Moran's two two-sackers really saved the contest for Cornell His first one, over the left field fence, came in the sixth with King and Handiboe on bases, on which Charlie hit the first ball pitched, while his second for secored Mullen with the tying run the seventh.

Marceron got a peculiar triple in the fifth. He hit to deep left, the ball struck between a post and the fence, and lodged on the top of the fence. Ite made an extra base while O'Reilly was hunting for the pill.

"Al" Handiboe showed aptitude with "Al" Handiboe showed aptitude with the willow, getting all kinds of hits. The first time up he lined to left, second time up he placed a perfect bunt down third base line, and had the base before Sullivan reached the ball. The third time up he grounded between third and short, and the fourth time up he lined over second. All safeties, Widmayer got a fortunate double in the second. He hit a high fly back of first base right on the foul line, which neither McDonald nor Moran could reach. The ball took "English." bouncing into the crowd along the line, Consistent hitting accounts for all of Cornell's runs, with the exception of two, which were started by batsmen be-ing passed. Three of Aloysius' runs were scored by runners being given a life by errors.

On Sunday Navy Yard will play the Hampton Athletic Club of Baltimore at Capital City Park. The Hamptons are reputed to be one of the four best amateur teams in Baltimore, and, by the way, are managed by a former Navy Yard player, Jimmy Powers,

O'Reilly's only hit came in the third with men on second and third, both Cornell seemed weak in the catching department yesterday, both Smith and McDonald being off color. Arthur Noyes, the plucky catcher of umpire's Cornell, who broke his ankle about two sentence.

winners, it is freely predicted that there Howell started things going in the will be more upsets before the season first by connecting for a three bagger

Rogers caught a good game for Andrews up until the third inning, when the ball barely tipped the bat and planced away, hitting Rogers in the stomach. The boy didn't draw breath for a courle of seconds, and when he did come around, had to retire from the game. Miller was then taken out of right field and put back of the bat. Dan Mulyney supplemented Miller in Dan Mulvney supplemented Miller in the field.

It was worth going all the way out to First and V streets to see that Andrews team all decked out in their new white suits. A groan went up from the crowd when Chism sild home and emerged from the plate with the front of his pinafore yellow with dust.

Two spectacular catches by C. Dampier at third and Rapp in left field featured the fifth inning, when Manhattan was in the garden.

Not until his second attempt Jimmy Donnelly get away with that sacrifice hit in the slxth session.

WILL GOTCH HOLD WORLD MAT TITLE?

Hackenschmidt Followers Think He'll Down Champion Labor Day.

RECORD ATTENDANCE EXPECTED IN IOWA

Many Wrestling Fans Think Reno Episode Will Be Repeated. Odds Are on Gotch.

HUMBOLDT, Iowa., Aug. 15 .- Will Frank Gotch defeat Hackenschmidt on Labor Day, or will it be another Reno

There is no question but that the Humboldt grappler will go on the mat as big a favorite as was Jeffries over Johnson, but should the comparison end there? Many would like to know, and, judging from the mail received by Gotch and his training partners, there s considerable doubt in the minds of wrestling fans the country over, and now and then a question or two percolates from across the water which gives an indication of the world-wide interest in the event.

The coming match is an anomaly in American sporting events. Wrestling never has had a country-wide interest The biggest matches ever ulled off usually have been confined in interest to the localities where the match itself was held or the neighborhood in which one or the other princicals lived. Apparently this is going to et a precedent, although in the past it has been hard to get the average follower of sports enthusiastic in any par ticular mat contest.

Looks for Record Crowd.

Although Gotch himself doesn't care whether there are one thousand or fifty thousand people at the match, as he has his guarantee, the indications are that it is going to be a world beater in attendance, even though it might not be entirely deserved on account of the past performance of one of the principals. Hackenschmidt's barnstorming tout of the country last year left a taste in the mouth of wrestling as it was charged that he consistent-ly dodged one or two of the best men the country, noticeably Mahmout. This is one of the reasons why Gotch is going to try to make such a tour impossible for liack in the future. He says he is going to try to defeat him in the quickest possible time and make it so decisive that there will be no excuse for the Russian to linger in eral match races will be run. T. W. Dunworth's Gentle John will be among those shown this afternoon, and George Goodacre will try to make a new record with his trotter. Miss Mina.

Langford and O'Brien

Langford and O'Brien

Tonight

Make it no excuse for the Russian to it his country. Now, will Gotch be able to carry out his program? It is no use trying to start an argument on that score in Gotch's home town. No, not if you expect to get three square meals a day here. Backing Gotch is like putting money in the bank to the average citizen here. However, many a sock will have to stand a and bankbook will have to stand a frisk before the day of the battle. Gotch expects to win: in fact he is confident of throwing Hack in two straight falls, according to confidential information I have received while here. For public consumption the here. For public consumption the champion is more conservative.

"Best Have Been Beaten."

"You see, it is this way," said Gotch today, "I have set my heart on winning that match. No man was ever more look foolish in his exhibition bouts, but serious than I. I feel that I must win. but no man can make a positive promise. The only thing I can promise is that I will go into the ring in better shape than I ever was in, and that I will try to make a thorough job of it. "Now, the best of them have been defeated at one time or another, and possibly it my turn this time. But if I should be the loser, let no one say to my leftries at Reno. Gotch himse face that I laid down. I never have in nishes most of the pleasantry.

the past and I never will in the future. I will admit that in some matches I have not been as well prepared as I should have been, but that will not be the excuse this time. There will be no apology after this match, win or lose, Gotch Down to Weight.

Gotch expects to meet Hack weighing about 208 or 209 pounds. That is what he weighs now and he plans to neither reduce nor take on flesh during the next three weeks. That is also more than he weighed when he met Hack at Dexter Park pavillon.

Hack has announced that he will go nside the ropes weighing 230 pounds, That does not frighten the champion. He is used to heavyweights, and that was one of the reasons why he engaged Joe Rogers early in the game.

It is also on record at the training camp that practically every day he has picked up that mountain of fiesh and bone which sags the scales at 290 pounds and lifted him from the mat clear up to his shoulders. He does not do that just for fun or for the delectation of he spectators, but simply to see if he is going into a decline with the passing

It is not a weight-lifting contest, this hurling the 390-pounder over his shoulhurling the 290-pounder over his shoulders. It is part of the wrestling game and is done on the instant and before the spectators have had a chance to catch their breaths. And Joe is not passive about it either. It hurts his pride and he wriggles, kicks and squirms to get out from under, for it is usually a case of three points on the mat an instant after Joe hits the canvas, and that ends the match which Joe is paid to prolong as much as possible.

Who Is the Stronger?

There is no one here whom you can make believe that Hackenschmidt is a stronger man physically than is Goich, and there is ample room for doubt. If Hack is stronger, it is because he uses more science in his moves, but even here there is plenty of latitude for argument.

When it comes to the science of wrest-When it comes to the science of wresting it is admitted that Gotch is in a class by himself. Right now he could give pointers on the game to such old wheel horses as "Farmer" Burns, Evan Lewis, and Fred Beel. He has not enitrely relied on the teachings of others.
He has thought out some of the most dangerous holds himself and is always on the job figuring out more.

Champion Enjoys Life. He enjoys life to the fullest, which accounts for the absence of the grouch of which practically every athlete in training is possessed. Notch has another peculiarity, and that is that he never willfully tries to 'show up" any of his training partners before the public. There is not a man at the camp, which he could not make when he pins his partner to the mat it is bona fide and with as little of the spectacular as possible.

For that reason there is absolute har-For that reason there is absolute har-mony at the camp and every man, which includes Jesse Westergaard, Joe Rogers, Jim Asbell, and Yussiff Hassan not only give him all they have, but en-joy the work. They are not there to cheer him up, as was the case with leftries at Reno. Gotch himself fur-lishes most of the pleasantry.
